DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 7-16 22-31 and 37-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over InfoWorld, pTW1 and further in view of Riskin (US Patent No. 4,757,267).

InfoWorld substantially disclosed the claimed invention, particularly a custom billing services in which all telecommunications bills are integrated into one bill. Note the article. Real-time billing are provided as requested by customers. Having a database is not explicitly discussed. Such is taught by Riskin. The Examiner notes that such would have been obvious to the skilled artisan in order to implement the system and in order to store customers' information. Thus, a skilled artisan would have found it obvious to combine InfoWorld with Riskin in order to implement the teachings of InfoWorld in a computer system.
